Register to vote

Registering to vote

You can register to vote if you are:

- Resident (usually live) in the UK and aged 16 or over (but you will not be able to vote until you are 18).

You must also be either:

- A British, Irish or European Union citizen, or
- A Commonwealth citizen who has leave to enter or remain in the UK or who does not require such leave.

It will only take a few minutes and it is quicker and easier online.

If you need help filling in this form please contact your Electoral Registration Officer. You can find their address at yourvotematters.co.uk

Your nationality

If you have more than one nationality, please include them all. If you are a Commonwealth citizen you can only register to vote in the UK if you have leave to enter or remain in the UK or do not require such leave. We may check your immigration status with the Home Office before we include you on the electoral register.

Are you the only person aged 16 or over at your current address?

You do not have to answer this question. However, every year, Electoral Registration Officers send letters to every household to help ensure the right people are registered to vote. Your Electoral Registration Officer may not need to send these letters to your household in the near future if you let them know that you are the only person aged 16 or over living at your current address.

Your date of birth

Please give the date you put on official documents (for example, your passport or driving licence) or tick one of the boxes. Your date of birth identifies you, confirms your eligibility to vote and can be used to call people for jury service.

Changed your name?

For example, you may have got married and changed your name. You do not have to give us details of your name change but it will help us identify you. If this information is not given then you may need to provide additional documentary evidence.

The open register

There are two registers. Why?

Using information received from the public, registration officers keep two registers – the electoral register and the open register (also known as the edited register).

The electoral register

The electoral register lists the names and addresses of everyone who is registered to vote in public elections. The register is used for electoral purposes, such as making sure only eligible people can vote. It is also used for other limited purposes specified in law, such as:

- detecting crime (e.g. fraud)
- calling people for jury service
- checking credit applications.

If you are concerned that having your name or address on the register may affect your safety, there could be other options available to you. In certain circumstances, you can register without your name and address showing on the register. To find out more, please contact your Electoral Registration Officer. You can find their address at yourvotematters.co.uk. You can find out more information about both registers and how they may be used at gov.uk/register-to-vote

The open register

The open register is an extract of the electoral register, but is not used for elections. It can be bought by any person, company or organisation. For example, it is used by businesses and charities to confirm name and address details.

Your name and address will be included in the open register unless you ask for them to be removed. Removing your details from the open register does not affect your right to vote.

Your personal information

We will only use the information you give us for electoral purposes.

We will look after personal information securely and we will follow the Data Protection Act 1998.

We will not give personal information about you and the other people in your household to anyone else or another organisation unless we have to by law.
